

Description:

The Thomas J. Meskill Law Library has an abundance of study spaces, is home to several classrooms, administrative offices and our cafe.

Tour notes:

The Library houses the Career Development Center, One-Stop (Student Finance, Business, Registrar & Student Services offices), Admissions Office, and the student cafe making it a real pulse point for campus life. On the exterior wall of the library, just above the cafe, you can see engraved stones that depict a criminal trial taken from start to finish.

Description:

Knight Hall houses classrooms and seminar rooms, a student lounge, and our fitness center.

Tour notes:

The student lounge has vending machines that are excellent for study snacks. All the student journals are in this building; you will be able to try out to become an editor for a journal after your first year.

Description:

William F. Starr Hall contains the Main Reading Room, site of the law school's largest events, several classrooms, and offices for a variety of student and faculty organizations.

Tour notes:

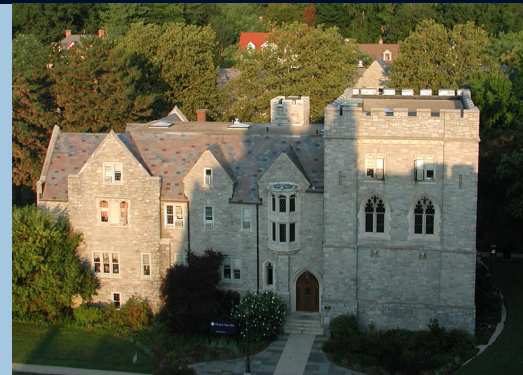

Both of our courtrooms are housed in Starr, a trial courtroom and an Appellate court room. The Starr reading room is our main event space on campus and events are largely coordinated by our 40+ student organizations. Our mental health counselor has office space in this building as well. Students are required to meet with a mental health counselor at least once during their first year.

Description:

Cheryl A. Chase Hall houses the Dean's Office, several other administrative offices and the two largest lecture rooms on campus.

Tour notes:

Our Dean as well as many administrators always attend many of our student events. They welcome the opportunity to speak with you about our law school so feel free to introduce yourself when you see them. The two largest classrooms on campus are housed in Chase hall. Many 1L classes are held in these classrooms.

Description:

Hosmer Hall is the site of faculty offices and Janet M. Blumberg Hall, where many law school events are held.

Tour notes:

This is where the main clinic space is, however we also have over 19 clinics spread throughout the Hartford area. The clinics are taken during 2L and 3L year and are treated very seriously. These are real clients and real cases that we handle and all are done pro bono. We have had great success in our clinics, with many of them being a go-to resource for low-income individuals around the community. We have turned the seemingly impossible odds these individuals face into favorable outcomes with a high success rate.
